

Conco's Support Helps Riverview School District Compete in the Annual BotsIQ

Verona, PA (December 18, 2015) For the past three years, Conco Services Corporation has proudly sponsored the Riverview School District in the annual Southwestern PA robotics competition called BotsIQ. The event is an educational robotics competition for high school age students that offers a unique, hands-on experience allowing students to discover the possibilities of a career in the manufacturing, technology, engineering or math sectors. The financial backing that Conco provides is used to purchase components and materials and covers a portion of the transportation costs. It also helps a small school like Riverview be competitive against much larger schools in the area.

Dr. Mike McNally, Gifted/Enrichment Teacher with the Riverview School District says, “The truth is that without Conco's support, we probably would not have been able to continue to participate in this competition over the past few years with budget cuts, and it is a truly great event.”

“I decided to join BotsIQ because I love robots, computer programming and building and taking things apart,” says Riverview student Summer Girson. “BotsIQ is a place where I can spit out some techno babble, and the people there understand me. Also, I am earning a great sense of teamwork.”
